

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of corporate media supporting partisan politics. This is clearly a tactic of Guerilla politics.

Since Sinclair utilizes our public airwaves, belonging to the citizens of this nation, and they do so free of charge, they are obligated to challenge biased opinions and information with the use of bi-partisan and analytical approaches to media dissemination.

I do not think it is appropriate for corporations to sow their opinionated seeds into the minds of our nation thru the use of television.

If Sinclair is to air "Stolen Honor" which is clearly a biased program then they should follow it with "Going Upriver".....lets see both sides of the kettle before you allow Sinclair to call the kettle what they want.

I feel it is your obligation to the american people to keep the airwaves free of partisan politics and protect us from illegitimate information which many people will characterize as the truth only because it was shown on television. The Television has become a propoganda tool for the government, and corporations are further exploiting american democracy which should be held accountable to law and franchise agreements.

I feel sinclair has a duty to provide the public with more domestic issues pertaining to there immediate local regions. Providing the peopl with local issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve the people and open goverment policies.

Thank you.
Mathew Stackpole